

I think the first human services an animal organization turns to, as we did years ago, is providing the companionship of animals to humans:

- Service animals.
- Volunteers taking animals to visit nursing homes.
- Schools, scout groups, churches and other individuals learning compassion and responsibility.