

And as we grew we added helping people keep their animals that they might otherwise have to give up to the list of our services;

- Giving food to people unable to afford to feed their animals.
- Providing medical care for spaying and neutering, rabies shots and other care.
- Providing shelter, fencing, dog houses, in many cases referred to us by animal control officers who wanted to seek help in resolving the problem instead of being forced to seize someone's beloved pet.
